PREFACE.

IN preparing this Bibliography of the Rebellion, the compiler has been at a loss where to begin his labors, inasmuch as events of great importance, which occurred long before the outbreak, had a direct bearing upon it, and require notice. The Raid at Harper's Ferry by John Brown; the contest for Freedom in Kansas; the working of the Fugitive Slave Law; the Missouri Compromise, and the long struggle between the Slave and Free States from the very adoption of the Federal Constitution, which finally culminated in the rebellion,—all seem to be a preparation for this event. With this view of the subject, the compiler has deemed it best that his catalogue should cover the whole ground of these several events, and should, consequently, include works relating to American Slavery. The historians of the rebellion, generally, have taken the same view, and have covered the field, beginning with the adoption of the Constitution in their preliminary remarks.

But, although it was determined to embrace works on this subject in the catalogue, it is, in this respect, far from complete, as the compiler did not commence till recently to collect works on American Slavery. But, notwithstanding the deficiencies in this department, he believes that his catalogue contains more titles on the subject than can be found elsewhere.

The catalogue will be found to include titles of the following :—

1. Books and Pamphlets relating to the Rebellion, and to topics connected therewith, published in the United States and Europe.
2. Congressional Reports; Reports and Documents from the Departments of the War and the Navy; Proceedings of Courts Martial; Communications from the Executive of the United States; Speeches in Congress, and all other publications of the general government, 1861-65, relating to the war.
3. Official publications of the several States covering the period of the war,—1861 to 1865,—embracing Messages of Governors; Reports of Adjutant and Quartermaster Generals; Rosters of Volunteers; Documents and Reports relative to Volunteers, Bounties, the Draft, etc.

4. Official publications of the British government relating to the war.
5. The publications of the United States Sanitary and United States Christian Commissions; the Loyal League of New York; the Union League of Philadelphia, etc.
6. Publications relating to the Harper's Ferry Invasion; the Fugitive Slave Law; the Missouri Compromise; Belligerent Rights at Sea; Foreign Relations; International Law; the Cotton Question, etc.
7. Works on American Slavery.
8. Essays relating to the rebellion from American and European Reviews and Magazines.
9. Proceedings of cities, towns and public bodies, together with Eulogies on the occasion of the Death of Abraham Lincoln.

Under these several heads are embraced Essays and Speeches on the State of the Country, Secession, Revenue, Taxation, National Banks, Currency, the National Debt, Habeas Corpus, Martial Law, Conscription, Prisoners of War, Confiscation, Slavery, Emancipation and Reconstruction; Orations, Addresses, Lectures and Sermons having reference to the War or to the topics above-mentioned; Eulogies and Memorials of the fallen; Biographies of Officers of the Army and Navy; Reports and Documents relating to National Armories, Navy Yards, the Enlargement of Canals for war purposes, Patent Fire-Arms, Armored Vessels; Reports of Societies for the aid of Soldiers and all objects connected with the war; Reports of Public Meetings for sustaining the Government during the progress of the war; Reports and Documents relative to Freedmen; Poems, etc.

Speeches in Congress are mentioned only when separately published. Among these are some of the best and most elaborate publications on the war, but more particularly on subjects to which the war has given rise, as the State of the Country, Taxation, Revenue, Currency, National Banks, Reconstruction, etc.

Another and much more numerous class of publications includes Discourses, Sermons, Lectures, Orations, Addresses and Speeches. Among these will be found productions of our most distinguished writers and speakers, embracing the best essays on the war, in which we find that event treated from every point of view. In a few instances, where articles of importance have been published only in the newspapers, it has been thought desirable to mention them.

Although this bears the imprint of Richmond, it also bears, inside, the name of a London Printing House. It is like the ordinary Prayer Books, except that those passages in the prayers for the President of the United States are altered to "The President of the Confederate States." In one instance, however, the Confederate Churchmen deemed it more proper not to make a change. This is in the prayer to be used at sea, in which the Almighty is asked to preserve them from the dangers of the sea, etc., that they "may be a safeguard unto the United States."

Brigadier General Boardman was born in Sutton, Massachusetts. At an early age he took up his residence at St. Louis, Missouri. Here he raised a regiment for the War and served in the Campaigns with General Grant. He fell before Vicksburg, on the 22d of May, 1863. The Memoir is by his Sister, Mrs. M. Amelia Stone, and is a volume of much interest.

527. BOOTH, J. W. Private Confession of the Murderer of Lincoln. His connection with the Rebellion. The killing of a bosom friend of Booth's by Federal Soldiers after the Battle of Bull's Run. Their brutal conduct towards the victim's wife. Her brother and Booth then vow a terrible oath of Vengeance and Retribution. Booth is implicated in the slaying, in cold blood, of no less than twenty-six Federal Officers. His plans for assassinating the President, General Grant, and all the Members of the Cabinet, and to burn the Capitol at Washington; also the public buildings of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. This confession was given by the Assassin to a Confederate friend, who assisted in his concealment, and who escaped to New York after the capture of Booth by the officers of justice, arriving at Liverpool on Saturday last, on his way to Russia.

The above is an advertisement of a catch-penny publication from a London paper.

The New York Evening Post of August 3, 1865, in an account of this book, gives the following notice of its author: "Belle Boyd was a young woman of Martinsburg, Virginia; good-looking, as we have been told by officers upon whom she has exercised her charms, ready-witted, impetuous, and a determined enemy of the Union, as she does not omit to tell us in this book. She was notorious as a skillful spy for Stonewall Jackson and other Rebel Generals, and she closed her career by seducing one Hardinge, a lieutenant of our Navy, who fell in love with her; for her sake, suffered the escape of a prisoner in his hands, and afterward deserted to the enemy and married Miss Boyd."

- This sermon was preached in December, 1860. It was printed by gentlemen of the Democratic Party, and circulated by them throughout the country. The writer received letters from Georgia, Alabama and other southern States, asking for copies to be circulated among the southern people. Many of these letters abounded in patriotic and loyal sentiments. From South Carolina, however, Dr. Vinton got abuse.
